Five Wounded In Cleveland Shooting Today

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police and National Guardsmen opened fire on a car early today, wounding a 16-year-old Negro mother and her two small children at the scene of a fire.

The blazing guns injured five persons, including a National Guard captain hit by a ricocheting bullet.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered firebombings and vandalism — sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were Christopher Green, 4, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Mrs. Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

A ricochet wounded Capt. James Pletcher, a National Guard officer. He was hit in the right leg.

The gunfire started after a policeman tried to pull the driver from the car. The man clung to the wheel.

Police and guardsmen tried to stop the car at the scene of a fire that hit a dance hall and skating rink at East 107th Street and Cedar Avenue.

The building was destroyed. Damage was estimated at $100,000. Police said the fire apparently was the work of an arsonist.

Patrolman Sam Heney was seriously injured and three other policemen were hurt when two cruisers collided while rushing to the fire scene.

National Guardsmen and police had set up roadblocks at various intersections in the area to keep a lid on the battered Negro riot section after a night of widely scattered fire bombings and vandalism.

Rites For Child At Mine Today

CALUMET (AP) — Workers at the Calumet Division of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., staged a short strike Wednesday, protesting the end of the search for a seven-year-old girl.

The girl, Ruth Ann Miller, fell into one of the company's abandoned mines Saturday. The search was called off Tuesday when it became apparent that the lives of miners trying to find her body were endangered by the deteriorated condition of the mile-deep mine shaft.

Hope for the girl's life was abandoned earlier.

Miners walked off their jobs earlier Wednesday, but returned after talking with union and company officials and learning of a letter from the girl's family.

Ruth Ann's stepfather, Eugene Taylor, wrote:

"Mrs. Taylor and I are deeply disturbed by reports of dissatisfaction by some people with the decision to discontinue efforts to recover our daughter. This decision was reached jointly by ourselves and mining company and government safety experts. We are aware and deeply grateful that the rescuers were willing to continue the great personal risk. But fear of an even greater tragedy influenced our decision."

Private funeral services were to be held at the mine today.

French Safety Device Passes Bomb Drop Test

PARIS (AP) — A French atomic bomb was dropped without exploding on Mururoa Island in the Pacific today in a test of the bomb's safety devices.

The French Defense Ministry said the test was to verify the safety of operational nuclear arms "during their stockpiling and transport." It termed the test successful.

Carburetors Are Copped Off Cops

PLINT (AP) — When somebody copped a case of carburetors last February, the cops quickly recovered the loot and stored it for safekeeping.

Then somebody copped the carburetors from the cops.

City Manager Thomas Kay outlined the story to city commissioners this week.

City police recovered 713 carburetors which were stolen from General Motors Corp.'s Buick division Feb. 19. They stored them in the police garage.

When Buick went to collect them June 3, they discovered 231 carburetors had been stolen again. They filed a claim for $5,149 against the city.

Kay said the incident was "embarrassing."

Forecasts Reaction If Hanoi Tries Captives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, while carefully avoiding retaliation threats, says the American people would "react accordingly" should Hanoi try to down U.S. pilots on charges of war crimes.

Asked about North Vietnamese threats that such trials will be launched, Johnson responded at a news conference Wednesday.

Speck Charged With Murder; Sees Minister

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, who is accused of slaughtering eight student nurses, was formally charged with murder Wednesday and conferred with his lawyer and a minister.

The Rev. David Peterson, 30, a Lutheran minister, spent 20 minutes with Speck in the City Jail Hospital and told newsmen: "He is concerned about his relationship with God. I think that primarily was the reason he saw me. It was a very personal conversation."

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, pastor of the Irving Park Lutheran Church of Chicago, said Speck asked him to visit again today. The minister said he would if all authorities agree.

Speck, an itinerant seaman with a long arrest record in Dallas, Tex., was formally charged with murder and the hearing was continued to July 28.

Hancock Nurse Abuse Charged In Speck Probe

HANCOCK (AP) — A law firm today accused four Illinois police officials of harassing a nurse who claims to have dated Richard Franklin Speck, accused murderer of eight Chicago student nurses.

The firm of Wisti, Jaaskelainen and Schrock said it represented Judy Laakaniemi, a 28-year-old divorcee and nurse at a Hancock hospital who met Speck while he convalesced from an emergency operation at the hospital earlier this year.

Miss Laakaniemi said last Sunday that she saw Speck frequently over a two-week period and again over a long weekend the past June.

In Hospital

A four-man team from the Illinois State's Attorney's office headed by Kenneth Gillis left today after interviewing people who came in contact with Speck.

The team said it was unable to contact Miss Laakaniemi, but had talked to her attorneys.

"Miss Laakaniemi is at the present time hospitalized at St. Joseph Hospital in Hancock with an emotional condition which was precipitated by the conduct of the state's attorney and the police officers from Chicago who harassed her at her residence last night," said Wisti, Jaaskelainen and Schrock in a statement.

Threats Claimed

"Although the state's attorney and officers were aware of the situation and also aware of the fact that Miss Laakaniemi was represented by counsel, they nevertheless saw it to pound at her door in the night and make statements in the nature of threats."

The firm also said that it was "necessary to obtain the assistance of the city of Hancock police department to protect Miss Laakaniemi."

Hancock Police Chief Joseph Karry said he received a call from a representative of the firm Wednesday night, reporting that somebody was pounding on Miss Laakaniemi's door, but that no one was there when a patrol car arrived.

"Excellent Cooperation" Before returning to Chicago, Gillis said he had received excellent cooperation "from everybody in Hancock."

The local law firm said Miss Laakaniemi will not give a statement to Illinois of Chicago police until "we are convinced her testimony will be material in the trial."

The Illinois team was reported to have centered its questions on Speck's mental attitude and how he acted while in Hancock.

Speck, who was formally charged with the murder of one of the eight nurses today, is an itinerant seaman. He was taken off a Great Lakes ore carrier to undergo an emergency appendectomy in Hancock.

VIRGIL DOOLEY, twice U.S. speed skating champion, converts his talent into profit with speedier gas station service. Of the eight people who work at Dooley's station in Detroit, only one doesn't skate. "We can wait on cars three minutes faster," said one employee, "And people want service in a hurry." ## Airline Negotiations Face Complete Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — The confused, deadlocked airline strike talks staggered on uncertainly today with federal officials trying to avert a complete breakdown.

Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the striking machinists union, said his plan for 35,000 strikers to vote on the latest offer by the airlines was up in the air because "there's nothing to vote on."

William J. Curtin, chief negotiator for the five grounded airlines, withdrew everything from the bargaining table after Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz denounced the union vote plans as "pointless."

President Johnson urged continuous talks until settlement of the two-week-old walkout, idling some 66,000 workers and costing many millions of dollars in lost wages and lost airline revenue and sharply cutting business in many parts of the nation.

Wirtz kept the two sides talking in hopes of getting meaningful negotiations back on the track.

The near breakdown in the talks heightened speculation that President Johnson, who has exhausted all legal avenues to end the strike, might call the negotiators to the White House for his special brand of high pressure mediation.

The verbal storm clouds over the talks meant the two-week strike against Trans World, Eastern, National, Northwest and United airlines could extend to at least a month.

The union's walkout threat defied Johnson's plea for round-the-clock negotiations until a settlement is reached.

Johnson's only alternative appeared to be to call the negotiators into the White House for marathon sessions as he successfully did to settle stalemate steel and railroad talks in the past.

"We have no legal remedies left to us in the government," Johnson said at his news conference Wednesday.

He appeared to rule out any special emergency law such as Congress whipped out to stave off a threatened rail strike in 1963.

The Johnson and Wirtz remarks pressured the machinists' negotiators into delaying their 5 p.m. deadline Wednesday for taking a membership vote on whatever was the airlines' last offer.

Ramsey wanted to recess the talks for the five days it would take to conduct the vote.

Negotiations flew apart again when Ramsey reset the deadline for noon Friday. The vote will be taken at union meetings next weekend in some 30 cities, Ramsey said.

"The union officers confirm the certain fact that the union vote will be negative," Wirtz said in sharply denouncing the machinists' plan.

Young, who had been a rather untalkative astronaut during his first two days in space, expressed his exuberance when he crossed to within a few feet of Agena 8.

"Fantastic, John," a ground station communicator exclaimed. "I don't believe it myself," Young replied.

Ferency Urges Income Levy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Zolton Ferency, Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, said Wednesday Republican Gov. George Romney "does not have the gumption or guts" to propose a tax program for Michigan.

After lunching with Democratic House members from Michigan, Ferency, who has no primary opposition, told a news conference Michigan would be in the red in 1967 unless new taxes are imposed.

Every study that has been made, he said, calls for an income tax for the state.

Ferency said he would be in favor of reducing consumer taxes such as those on beer and cigarettes and the business activity tax and make up for these with a state individual and corporate income tax.

Astronauts To Bring Batch Of Records Home

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — One of man's most exciting and significant space adventures reaches a blazing climax late today when the Gemini 10 astronauts make a meteoric dive back through the atmosphere, bringing home a bundle of records.

Command pilot John W. Young, a Navy Commander, and space-walker Michael Collins, an Air Force major, planned to trigger the retro-rockets on their fuel-short spacecraft at 3:31 p.m. EST to start a fiery descent. The landing in the Atlantic about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy was timed for 4:07 p.m.

A recovery force of ships and planes headed by the helicopter aircraft carrier Guadalcanal was stationed in the planned landing zone, where weather conditions were reported good.

Until the re-entry, the astronauts were to drift through space, conserving their precious remaining fuel and conducting whatever photographic and scientific experiments they could.

They were ready to come home after three days aloft. In that period they had had the hatch open three times — twice for Collins' business outside and once to jettison items no longer needed.

Discussing that Wednesday night, Young commented: "We'd like to try for five — on the water. One on the left side, one on the right — no more, thank you."

Despite protests that forced Collins to cut short two space excursions, the flight of Gemini 10 was rated one of the best U.S. man-in-space trips yet.

"This mission is one of the most rewarding we've ever flown," commented Flight Director Glynn Lunney.

"John and Mike performed magnificently," Lunney said Gemini 10 proved the feasibility of rendezvous with both an active and a passive satellite — the Agena 10 and the Agena 8; that man can survive outside a spacecraft, and that a manned satellite can dock with a fuel tanker in space for long periods and use its engine for maneuvering.

Navy Cmdr. Alan L. Bean, a Gemini 10 backup pilot, told newsmen the rendezvous with the lifeless Agena 8 was the most significant achievement.

"A year ago," Bean said, "we thought it was impossible to rendezvous with something that had been up there for four months — with no radar beacon or lights. That one thing alone gives us an impact of what has been done on Gemini 10. It was tremendous."

Young, who had been a rather untalkative astronaut during his first two days in space, expressed his exuberance when he crossed to within a few feet of Agena 8.

Rockhounds Find U.P. A Treasury

Each summer many "rockhounds" chip their way across the Upper Peninsula. Less obvious are several hundred rockhunting students who come to the area each summer from universities in Michigan and Wisconsin.

Typical of the group of budding professional geologists are students taking Michigan State University's summer field course, Geology 344. Housed on the campus of Northern Michigan University, students taking the field course have been spending their summers studying the geology of the Marquette area each year since the end of World War II.

Englishman Dr. Harold Stonehouse, who is instructing the MSU course, says the Upper Peninsula offers an unusual variety of geological formations for study purposes.

Geology students and rockhounds can be likened to the avid fisherman, he says, in that they tend to be secretive about their choice collecting sites. Dr.

Stonehouse says, however, that the general public as well as the recreation industry would benefit if suggested geological side trips and tour information were made available to the traveling public.

If this type information were given to tourists as they enter the area, all of them, from the beginning hobbyist to the professional geologist, would find the trip across the Peninsula much more interesting. Dr. Stonehouse feels. University people and members of the State Geological Society have produced such information for the benefit of downstate classroom teachers and the professor thinks that the same type information could be assembled and distributed through an organization such as the Upper Michigan Tourist Association.

Dr. Stonehouse thinks that, in addition to iron ore, there may be sizeable deposits of metals such as copper, lead and zinc in the Marquette area. The Bear Creek Mining Co. is currently prospecting for copper within five miles of the City of Marquette.

Nearly all of the MSU geology majors go on to earn a masters degree and most of them take jobs with the petroleum industry. Others are employed by Upper Peninsula mining companies.

U.P. Fair Queen Deadline Aug. 3

"Sponsoring groups and organizations from Upper Peninsula communities are urged to enter their queens to compete for the U. P. State Fair Queen title," says Mrs. Lency Clairmont, queen contest director.

"Application blanks are available, and can be obtained by writing to me at 720 S. 10th St., Escanaba, or phoning 786-7016. The deadline for entering contestants is Aug. 3 and early registrations will be appreciated."

The girl chosen to reign as queen of the U. P. State Fair from Aug. 16-21, must be single, and between 16 and 22 years of age. She must be a queen in her own right from an Upper Peninsula community, and must have a sponsor, such as a Chamber of Commerce, service group, club, or other organization.

The sponsor must enter the queen contestant. The U. P. State Fair Queen will represent the region at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit. Judging is on the basis of talent and personality as well as beauty.

Processing of entries makes it necessary for contestants to get application blanks to Mrs. Clairmont on or before the deadline date, Aug. 3.

Former U. P. State Fair queens will be feted at the Fair, and former queens are requested to send their names, if they plan to attend the program, to Cliff Perras, Fair secretary-manager.

A number of large oil paintings of former queens have been found in storage in the Exhibition Building and these will be given to former queens claiming them at the Fair office.

Mack Says He'll Help U.P. Again

State Senator Joseph S. Mack, Democrat of Ironwood, 38th District, announced his candidacy for reelection today.

Senator Mack, a native of Ironwood, was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1960 and after the legislative reapportionment of the state in 1964 defeated two incumbent senators for the office of the only full senator from the Upper Peninsula, representing the counties of Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton, Keweenaw, Baraga, Marquette, Iron, Dickinson, Menominee and the western half of Alger.

Mack has two sons, Dennis Jon, 13, attending grade school at Ironwood, and Gary Joseph, 20, a pre-law senior at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. His wife was killed recently in an automobile mishap.

Mack is the vice-chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and also serves as a ranking Democratic Senate member on the Committee on Committees, which appoints all Senate committee chairmen and members. He also serves the Capital Outlay Committee which initiates expenditures on state universities, colleges and official buildings.

Mack said that in the past year, his legislative responsibilities were so confining that he worked all but nine days of the fiscal year. He pointed as major legislative accomplishments:

1. Repeal of the lien law.

2. Senior citizens homestead

New Station Is Approved

The construction of a new American Oil Co. service station at 2300 Ludington St. has been approved by the Board of Appeals and the City of Escanaba has issued a building permit, it was announced today.

The site is the present Smith's Service Station at the northwest corner of 33rd and Ludington Sts., where a Standard (American) Oil station has been located for many years. Service will continue at the present station as long as possible.

Robert Haack, Standard Oil Co. terminal superintendent, said additional area has been acquired and an adjacent dwelling will be removed to another lot as part of the project.

The new building, of modern design, is hoped to be completed before winter. It will be 78 feet long and 37 feet wide and will have a three stall service department. Bids are now being received and it is the firm's policy to seek local contracts, Haack said.

At the hearing on the building application before the Board of Appeals there were no objections received and approval followed.

George Lusardi Of Rock Honored For Reporting

In recognition of his 40 years of service as a local farm reporter for the Michigan Crop Reporting Service, George J. Lusardi, Route 1, Rock, recently received a certificate of appreciation from C. A. Hines, federal-state agricultural statistician for Michigan.

The certificate is signed by Governor Romney, the chairman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Board, the director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and Hines. It expresses appreciation for continuous and faithful service to the program which keeps farmers and others informed as to agricultural conditions in Michigan so that production and marketing programs can be better planned.

Collection and dissemination of crop information has been a function of government since 1839 and 1966 marks 100 years of continuous reporting for many crops and livestock. This makes the certificate issued to Lusardi have special meaning this year.

Retirement System: State Board In U.P. Meeting

The Municipal Employees Retirement Board today is holding its annual Upper Peninsula meeting at the State Office Building in Escanaba, with discussion on a variety of topics relating to the operation of the retirement system whose assets exceed six million dollars.

The meeting began at 2 p. m. today in the conference room of the State Office Building, with representatives of most of the units in the U. P. present. Twenty-nine U. P.

There are 127 units in the state now members of the Retirement System and 29 of these total are in the Upper Peninsula. Escanaba city is a member and the Delta County Road Commission has expressed an interest in the system, Farrell reported.

One of the topics for discussion today is expected to be amendments to the Retirement Act which would permit cities such as Escanaba to increase retirement benefits in the future, if it wishes.

Besides serving as executive secretary of the Municipal Employees Retirement Board, Farrell is executive secretary of Judges' Retirement Board; executive secretary of the State Employees' Retirement System; executive secretary of the Probate Judges' Retirement Board.

Guidance For Monday

Delta County and neighboring school districts will ballot Monday, July 25, on several school district mergers.

- The proposals are reorganizations to join:
1. Bark River-Harris to Escanaba Area.
  2. Perkins, Flat Rock, Brampton, Rock and Rapid River to Gladstone.
  3. Cooks, Garden, Fairbanks and Nahma.
  4. Thompson, Hiawatha, Fairview, Mueller, Germfask and Doyle to Manistique.

The state government has been promoting reorganization of school districts in Michigan to improve schooling. Educators say that it is about impossible today to have a good high school with small enrollment and small tax base. So there's effort to merge the little districts into larger ones that can offer more school program, pay teachers more, upgrade the whole process.

The Michigan Legislature in 1964 passed Act 289 which provided for the appointment of School District Reorganization Committees throughout the state. Elementary schools picked 5 committeemen, high schools 5, the judge of probate 5, and the Intermediate Board of Education 3, to make a total of 18. The committees, rather tardily and hurriedly put together some reorganization plans and these are the ones being submitted to the voters next Monday in four elections in Delta County.

There seems to be a general unhappiness with the suggestions being voted upon and a feeling that they were rather hastily formulated and represent the obvious collection of local districts into area districts, but that they're apt in some cases to create problems as well as to solve some.

There are some exceptions to this generalization. Item No. 4, reorganizing the Manistique School District, would only formalize an existing situation. The districts which would be joined to it already are sending their high school students to its school and the board of education would continue and at the next election the outgoing districts could elect members to it. The Manistique proposal deserves a Yes vote. Manistique's board has endorsed it.

The No. 3 proposal to create a new high school district of the existing high school districts of Cooks (in Schoolcraft County) and Garden and Nahma in Delta County, plus Fairbanks Township in Delta, is the most difficult of all four problems. The state set up a guideline of 2,000 student enrollment minimum in the reorganized districts and this one would have only 700-800.

But its people told the Reorganization Committee that creation of an East Delta District would be an improvement upon the present situation and that the proposed alternative of joining Manistique creates formidable bus distances. It is 40 miles from Fairbanks Township to Manistique.

Proposal No. 2 to join Perkins, Flat Rock, Brampton, Rock and Rapid River to Gladstone would necessitate the creation of an interim board of education, as in Proposal No. 3 for East Delta. The interim board would set up an election of a board for the new district and for the extra voted millage necessary to operate the new district, as the existing millage would expire with reorganization.

The Gladstone Board of Education has not made a public statement, but is reported divided on the issue. It wants to be friendly toward growth, but the proposal brings problems as well as opportunities and would erase the present structure and taxing authority.

Rapid River's board took no public stand, but a public hearing there on the proposal expressed opposition to the reorganization and hope for a more thorough study of the situation.

Proposal No. 1 has had public guidance from the boards of education of the Escanaba Area and Bark River-Harris districts. The former was opposed to the reorganization and urges a No vote, the latter favors the reorganization and urges a Yes vote. Escanaba Area would lose its 7.5 extra voted millage for operation if reorganized; it would have to be voted over again and this would have to be done by Sept. 15 or the district would be in a money crisis.

Bark River-Harris declined to join Escanaba Area when it was proposed earlier and now Escanaba Area proposes delay to avoid an expansion program and tax difficulties.

The reorganization proposals generally are a step in a long process, hastened by state law. Good sense calls for local determination of what's best for the districts involved and not conformity to proposals resulting from a scattershot state law.

State Study Reports In 11 Years

U.P. Electric Generation Triples

The widespread electric power failure that hit New York City, the northeastern United States and parts of Ontario on Nov. 9 last year caused immediate reaction of concern around the country whether a similar chain reaction could black it out.

Peter Spivak, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission initiated a study of Michigan's situation undertaken by the Michigan Electric Power Capacity and Reliability Advisory Committee and 71 electric power systems participated in it. C. F. Rogers, vice president-operations, U. P. Power Co., represented the U. P. in the study.

It found that the state's electric utilities can produce more power than is needed, with a reserve supply of 15 per cent; that they are spending close to $1 billion in expansion programs to meet future needs and that they are geared to meet any major power failure.

Most Michigan electric systems have interconnections with neighboring systems and can obtain interconnection assistance in scheduled or emergency generation outages.

The Upper Peninsula, with a population of some 300,000 people, is served by a total of 21 electric systems including five investor-owned systems, 13 municipally-owned and three electric cooperatives having a total of 117,000 customers. Today's generating capacity in the U. P. is 472,772 kilowatts, nearly triple the amount existing in 1955. Expansion plans will increase capacity to 633,400 kilowatts.

One Intra-state Tie
The electric loads in the U. P. are rather widely dispersed over the Peninsula's 16,500 square miles. A significant part of the generation serving these loads is located outside of Michigan, primarily in Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Public Service Corp., Lake Superior District Power Co., Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. and Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

There is only one electric tie between the Upper and Lower Peninsula. This tie links Consumers Power Co. facilities with the Edison Sault Electric Co. by means of submarine cables across the Straits of Mackinac.

The largest electric system in the U. P. is the Upper Peninsula Power Co. serving 32,800 customers and expecting a 1966 load of 231,000 kilowatts. The City of Marquette with 8,200 customers and 17,900 kilowatts of load is the largest municipal system. The three electric cooperatives serve a total of approximately 14,400 rural customers and normally purchase their power from other systems.

Steam Generation Up
Historically, electric generation facilities in the U. P. have been primarily hydro, since the area contains a number of hydro-electric sites of moderate potential. Since 1955 significant steam electric generating capacity has been constructed. The largest turbine-generator in service is a 58,400 kw unit on the U. P. Power Co.'s system. It is difficult to compare generating capability meaningfully with electric loads for the entire U. P. since a significant part of generating serving these loads is located in Wisconsin and committed to serve loads in that state as well as in Michigan.

The U. P. stretches nearly 320 miles by 180 miles and these great distances in a sparsely settled and developed area that is heavily forested makes transmission one of the major problems facing electric utilities. This is a primary reason why there are not more interconnections.

To Double Capacity
The cities of Bessemer and Marquette operated as independent systems. Plans for the next five years call for the construction of additional transmission facilities by the five investor-owned utilities, which will more than double their capacity and provide dual service to most sections.

One additional interconnection is planned before 1970 between Wisconsin, Michigan Power Co. and U. P. Power Co. linking the Republic and Iron Mountain areas with a 138,000 volt transmission line for transmission of emergency power.

The isolated system of the City of Marquette reports 34,700 kilowatts of generation and 17,900 kilowatts of load for 1966, giving a reserve margin of 16,800 kilowatts or 93.9 per cent. For 1970 generating capability of 51,200 kilowatts will be available to serve an estimated load of 21,700 kw, leaving 135.9 per cent reserve.

Source of Concern
After the Northeast power failure virtually all Michigan electric utilities reviewed their systems and many modifications of facilities, practices and procedures are being effected. Although the Northeast failure did not originate from equipment failure, the Michigan systems recognize that competent equipment is essential.

At the present time the only possible source of a massive Michigan disturbance from outside the state would be through the two 120,000 volt interconnections between Detroit, Edison and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario. These interconnections are pro-in the regular school year? Now the federal government has set up programs to reach all grades math and reading in the summer months because they are falling behind in these two main and essential subjects. It would seem that these two subjects should be stressed more than any other.

There has been no mention of just how much our taxes will have to be raised to handle all the needs of a larger system. Sault Ste. Marie has gone through reorganization and already on Aug. 2, they are voting on 5 more mills for general operation, plus a bonding issue, plus assuming bonded debts of local districts.

AT THIS TIME and the way this particular proposal is written it is wrong for the majority. There are now seven school boards in the county that this will affect. They are your voted representatives for your district and even most of them are split over how this should be voted on. As secretary of the Fairview School Board of Manistique Township I can say that we as a board are at this time opposed to this proposal as is, four to one.

HAS TAKEN STAND

In a recent issue of the Press it was indicated that the only boards of education which had taken a stand on reorganization were the Escanaba Area and the Bark River-Harris Boards of Education. A definite position was taken by the Manistique Board April 11. The following is the motion made by Jeanne Larson and supported by John Moffat:

Because the high school pupils of Germfask, Mueller, Doyle, Fairview, Hiawatha, Thompson, and Manistique School Districts will attend the same high school.

Because all of the children attending school in these districts will be affected by the public acceptance or rejection of the present reorganization proposal.

Because the effect of the acceptance or rejection of the present reorganization proposal will influence the education of children and their future as adults.

Because we feel that the proposed reorganization will result in the mutual long term educational benefit for children.

Recognizing fully that the administrative, financial and other problems will increase and that there are many unforeseen consequences which will require cooperative efforts of all concerned.

The Manistique Board of Education endorses the following policy statement:

"We fully endorse the proposed reorganization of Germfask, Mueller, Doyle, Fairview, Hiawatha, Thompson, and Manistique School Districts and sincerely indicate our intention to continue working cooperatively with the citizens of all school districts to provide the best education possible within our capabilities for all children of all districts. Motion carried unanimously."

Edwin E. Wuchle,
Superintendent

OPPOSITION

July 25, voters of Schoolcraft County will go to the polls and vote for or against reorganization of the school system in Schoolcraft County.

Reorganization of schools that do not have K-12 grades to a system that does have K-12 is a law under Public Act 289, but it does not state how you must reorganize, when or why. That is one part of this election that should be brought out at this time. Reorganization for those districts that need or feel that they could be helped by reorganization should be helped into a reorganization vote.

But on the other hand, those districts that don't want or need a reorganization at this time or any other time should not be forced into it by an election such as this one. As you will vote on the reorganization July 25, one school district — and for that matter even all the rural school districts — can vote 100 per cent against and still be carried into reorganization by the City of Manistique if it is in favor of it.

REORGANIZATION is a big change for any school system. The voters should be able to vote the way they want and the outcome should be the way it is voted and not be pressured into thinking that if you don't vote for reorganization now you will get it later anyway because the state will force it on you one way or another.

Your local boards of 8 townships and one city board will be out, or a total of 37 board members will be gone, and the district will be represented by 7 members of one school board, the City of Manistique. Our townships' board of township government are going by state order also. How and where is this sort of representation going to end? In a few years the government will consist of state and federal government and no further. This is wrong.

IT HAS BEEN said that the children will be educated better in such things as music, art, sciences, shop, etc. I have been wondering why they need this

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt
Q — What are the symptoms of thyroid deficiency? Is it a common disease?

A — Too little thyroid hormone causes slowing up of mental and physical activity but in their milder stages these symptoms are hard to measure and may be due to fatigue and other causes. In a more severe stage your skin would get rough and dry, you would gain weight and your hair would become dry and brittle. All these symptoms can be controlled with carefully adjusted doses of thyroid extract.

Thyroid deficiency is not common but it is seen five times more often in women than in men and most frequently between the ages of 30 and 60. The deficiency may be congenital or it may be the result of removing too much of an overactive thyroid.

Q — How is the protein-bound iodine (PBI) test made? How does it compare with the basic metabolic rate (BMR)?

A — The PBI test is a measure of the protein-bound iodine in your blood. This and the radioactive iodine uptake test are simpler and more reliable tests of thyroid activity than the older BMR.

Q — I am an unmarried woman, 26. I have a goiter that is growing outward. I believe this is not as dangerous as an inward kind. Should it be removed? Is this type of goiter unusual in a person my age? What is the likelihood of it being a cancer?

A — Since the simple or colloid goiter is caused by a lack of iodine in the water or food it can occur at any age but usually starts at puberty. It is 10 times as common in women as in men. Although the use of iodized salt will prevent the disease, it will not cure it once it is established. Small doses of thyroid extract, taken daily for a year or more, will often cure it. Operation to remove this type of goiter is necessary only when a rapidly growing goiter causes undue pressure on the windpipe or when there is bleeding into the goiter itself. Simple goiters do not tend to become cancerous.

Q — On a recent PBI test my reading was 23. Is this high or low?

A — Since the normal range is four to eight your reading is low and, if persistent, would indicate that you need thyroid extract.

The world's 49 steelmaking countries hit the half-billion-ton production mark for the first time in 1965.

Seaborg Expects Accelerator Site Decision By 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Glenn Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission said that he is still confident his group will select before the end of the year a site for the proposed $375 million atomic accelerator.

Seaborg told reporters the AEC is still evaluating information on the six sites which remained from more than 200 proposed locations in 46 states.

The sites under consideration are: Ann Arbor, Mich.; Brookhaven National Laboratory at Upton, L.I.; Denver, Colo.; Madison, Wis.; Sierra Foothills near Sacramento, Calif.; and South Barrington, or Weston, near Chicago.

None of the six has been eliminated as yet, the chairman said.

Seaborg was questioned about the proposed atom smasher before he appeared to testify before the joint Atomic Energy Committee in support of two nominees for the commission, Samuel N. Brit and Wilfred Johnson.

It confirmed by the Senate the two will help decide the site for the atom smasher.

State Handling About 40% Of Driver Licensing

LANSING (AP) — The state now has taken over from local police in operating driver licensing stations, serving about 60 per cent of the state's nearly 4.5 million licensed drivers.

Secretary of State James Hare said the state now is operating 23 stations out of 150 in Michigan, many of them in heavily populated areas. Newest state-run station is at Bay City. It opened Monday.

"Hardly a week goes by that some location stations, operated by sheriffs and local police departments, do not go out of business or indicate they are planning to quit the licensing business in the near future," Hare said.

Romney told his news conference the checkup would last two days — "They really give you the works."

He had a heart checkup in Detroit three years ago and found "my circulation is as good as a young man of 20." The governor is 59.

Plan Probe Of State's Hiring

LANSING (AP) — The state will start a study Aug. 1 on whether its officials discriminate against nonwhite persons who apply for state Civil Service jobs.

Negro legislators have complained that Civil Service employment procedures place nonwhite job applicants at a disadvantage.

The state Civil Service and Civil Rights Commission said they will start Aug. 1 tracing the progress of nonwhite applicants, checking how they score on Civil Service tests and, if they do well, whether they are hired.

Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, asked the Civil Rights Commission in January to launch an investigation. He charged then that "blatant discrimination practices by the state's executive offices make such an investigation imperative."

Franklin Dowald, state personnel director, denied the charge.

About 10 per cent of the state's 36,000 civil service jobs are held by Negroes, the department said, and it has expended its recruitment efforts among minority groups.

BROTHER LOUIS O. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Carr, 325 S. 15th St., Escanaba, and member of St. Patrick Parish, made perpetual profession of his religious vows as a member of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in ceremonies on July 17. Brother Louis and six other Christian Brothers from the Winona district pronounced their final profession before Brother B. Leo, assistant Superior General in charge of Brothers in the United States, who came from Rome to preside at the ceremonies at St. Thomas More Chapel, Winona, Minn. Brother Louis is a 1959 graduate of Holy Name High School.

Western, But He Still Plays Hood

EDITOR'S NOTE — Don't let that rugged face, or even memories of his Al Capone role in "The Untouchables," fool you. Neville Brand, one of the three Texas Musketeers in NBC's "Laredo," is a serious performer who studied at the American Theatre Wing. That face, however, is currently a part of his fortune.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How do I like being a comedian after playing hoods all the time? So what's the big switch?

When they signed me up for the part of Reese Bennett in "Laredo," I did some research on the Texas Rangers. And you know what I found out? After reading a few books on these guys, I discovered that the Texas Rangers were the Al Capones and the Frank Nittis of the Old West!

Some Texas Rangers signed up because they were wanted—not by their women folk—but by the sheriff in some town. I gather a good many of them were wanted for bank robbery or cattle rustling, but others were wanted for plain old murder. They didn't have any FBI in those days, so if a guy killed a man in Kansas, all he had to do was cross the border into Texas and no one could touch him.

But if he killed a guy in Texas and wanted to stay in that state, the law would let him off if he signed up for a hitch with the Rangers. When his hitch was over, he'd be a free man again and no one would lay a hand on him—until he killed his next man.

Al Capone couldn't get off that easy in the 30s, because they had the FBI. But anyway, the way I look at it—I'm still playing a hood, only Western-style!

I can't say I've always wanted to play comedy, because with my face I never thought anybody would want to laugh if I told a joke. But now that I've tried it, I really like it.

I've been an actor for a long time, but it wasn't until last year when I started playing Reese Bennett, that I really had to work. Comedy is a lot harder than any other kind of acting. Your timing has to be a whole lot better. If you miss an expression, or if you don't hold a take long enough, or if you hold too long, you fall flat on your face. I don't think there's anything worse than someone trying to be funny who isn't.

When I get a chance, I always like to watch myself on "Laredo." Sometimes I really break myself up, but other times I crawl under the bed and hide. It's real embarrassing to be an actor when your timing is off, and a couple of times last year, mine was really off!

Church Of Christ Young Men Working In Area

Todd Graham, Bay City, Avon, Allen, Auburn Heights, Larry Glover and Bruce Kilmer, Pontiac, are in Escanaba for the summer working with the local Church of Christ. These boys are all high school students and members of the church. They are being supported here by the Pontiac Church of Christ.

One is a junior and the other three are seniors in high school. From high school they plan to attend a Christian college to secure a Liberal Arts education and religious training. They all plan to prepare themselves to be missionaries and will take special training for this purpose. Presently they are making home contacts and conducting home studies. They are showing film strips in the home studies. This effort is leading up to a special Gospel meeting to be held July 24 to 31 at 1801 1st Ave. S. Jack Gray minister of the Bristol Road Church of Christ in Flint will do the preaching.

Carney Granted $28,968 Aid For Special Classes

LANSING (AP)—Six Michigan school districts will share more than $500,000 in federal funds for special programs for disadvantaged children, starting Sept. 1.

The six projects are the first to be approved by the state for the 1966-67 school year under provisions of the elementary and secondary education act passed by Congress, said Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Polley said Michigan has been assured it will receive at least 95 per cent of the $4.7 million it received last year for similar programs. Several hundred applications for it are expected.

The six projects include: Carney-Nadeau, Menominee County—$28,968 for projects involving 200 pupils in Grades 2 through 12, including nutrition, health and family management classes for high school girls and vocational training for high school boys.

Lieut. John Bissell Says:

Cong Are Losing Viet War

Lieut. John C. Bissell of the U. S. Marines says that no one likes the war in Viet Nam, but that "it's necessary, and a lot of men are 'extending.'"

A military tour of duty in Viet Nam is normally 13 months, but extensions are encouraged for three or four months or more and quite a few servicemen elect to stay.

Lieutenant Bissell, home for a leave with his mother, Mrs. John Bissell, 520 Lake Shore Drive, and family, has 10 months of his present enlistment to go. He goes from here to Beaufort, S. C. and "I may stay in the Marines," he said.

He's been in the Marines more than two years and left the States last May and arrived in Viet Nam in July. He returned to the States in June.

He was a platoon commander in Qui-Nhon and a company commander at Chu Lai. "We ran a lot of convoys and took a lot of troops to operations and ran convoys in support of operations, carrying supplies and ammunition and troops."

Enclaves Built
"We landed on the coast of the South China Sea and we pushed inland taking territory from the Viet Cong, holding it and protecting the Vietnamese people and enabling them to live a relatively normal life."

"We built enclaves which were used as bases for further operations. In the main enclaves we built air strips to carry on offensive action against the Viet Cong and making each enclave a supply complex."

"We built ourselves camps and when we had an operation we'd move out farther inland on search-and-destroy operations designed to keep the Viet Cong off balance and to stop them from massing and to kill them."

"On these operations a large part of our work was devoted to aiding the villagers by protecting them, caring for them, and feeding them. They have been at war a long time and have suffered a lot."

Much Malnutrition
"Many of them suffer from malnutrition. The Viet Cong take them heavily and take away a lot of their food, leaving them in a precarious state of existence. The people haven't been taught hygiene and the average life expectancy is low. An alarming number of children die young."

"The Third Marine Division went in first. The 7th Marine Regiment from Camp Pendleton was transferred into the Third and I was with this outfit. It was then actively participating in combat in Viet Nam."

"They're having pitched battles now, but there weren't many then. The Viet Cong are guerrillas. They usually operated at night, usually in squad platoon or company size. On occasion they'd go to battalion size."

Cong Are Smart
"The Viet Cong guerrilla is smart. He's well versed in warfare. He has an obvious advantage in that this is his terrain."

This is his country and he knows it well. He farms by day and fights at night.

"As the war has escalated they are definitely losing. They put in more troops and we put in more troops, but I don't know of one battle in which they haven't been posted. We have mobility, far superior firepower, better-fed, better-armed and better-trained troops."

"Our young kids are determined to win this war. They know why they're there. I think they realize the need for their being there and they certainly don't enjoy it, but they're determined to do their job well."

Highway Dept. Schedules Safety Meeting Aug. 31

First aid and accident procedures will be the subjects of a safety meeting at Escanaba Aug. 31, one of 16 conducted for district personnel throughout the state by the Department of State Highways Maintenance Division. The State Highway Commission announced today.

The safety meetings will each last one day. The meetings will include such topics as artificial respiration, personal injury accidents, fire prevention and defensive driving.

The improvements in safety skills will greatly benefit the general public when maintenance personnel encounter highway emergencies.

"There's a lot of disease and tropical ills, a lot of trench foot. Our biggest asset is mobility, our helicopter operations, excellent air cover, bombing and strafing runs, and the constant use of support arms like artillery and am-tracks."

Choppers Are Great

"The best thing that has come out of this war is the use of the helicopter. With it we were able to deploy troops immediately and quite effectively, resupply them, evacuate the wounded. If somebody got hit within minutes he received medical aid. Our wounded-to-day ratio was kept very low this way. Almost all of the wounded are airlifted right out immediately."

(Bissell suffered multiple wounds in fighting at Qui-Nhon, was airlifted out to a hospital.)

"If the war keeps escalating we're going to keep on clobbering 'em. I hope the end will be that the South Vietnamese will be able to live again and have his own government."

"When it's over I hope to see a democratic nation, greatly improved by our aid and by the know-how that we're giving them. And I certainly hope that their standard of living is raised."

"In the Marine units I saw morale was excellent. People naturally want to go home, but this is their job for the professional Marines. That's what we're there for; they're nothing but an arm of government."

LEGEND — John Champman, the Massachusetts man who became a national legend as Johnny Appleseed, is honored on a new five-cent stamp in the American Folklore series. First day issue will be Sept. 24 at Leominster, Mass., birthplace of the gentle eccentric who devoted his life to planting apple trees through 100,000 square miles of the Midwest.

Six Arrested In Deer Case

Two Watson youths have been jailed in Marquette and a third from Gladstone is now awaiting sentence on conservation charges filed in connection with the killing of two deer Sunday.

Officers said three juveniles also were arrested in the case. Jailed in Marquette after they failed to pay fines were Dale F. Sarasin, 18, and Emil H. DeBacker, both of Watson.

Both were charged with killing a buck deer during a closed season and pleaded guilty Wednesday when arraigned before Justice George Fozzey of Marquette. Each was sentenced to pay $50 fines and $8 costs and serve five days in jail. The five-day jail sentence was suspended, but both youths were lodged for the alternative of 15 days when they failed to pay the fines.

Awaiting sentence by Justice Ross Davis in Gladstone is Robert M. Sebeck, 17, of 1402 Michigan Ave., Gladstone. He pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of venison when arraigned Wednesday.

The three minor boys involved, ranging from ages 12 to 16, were referred to Probate Court.

Conservation officers said two deer were shot and killed in Wells Township, Marquette County, last Sunday. The arrests followed an investigation of the case after a tip from a resident in the area.

Ann Landers

Story Timeworn Yet Still As Terrible

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't throw my letter in the wastebasket because my story is such an old one. It will probably bore you silly, but it's the most important thing in my life.

It started with a cup of coffee and a shoulder to cry on. His wife was too busy, too tired, or too disinterested to give him attention. He had been watching and admiring me for months. He was sure I was the woman he should have married.

To make a long story short, I divorced my husband and gave up my children and my home. My lover is still with his wife. I felt sure that she had too much pride to continue to live with him if she knew about us. So I saw to it that she DID find out, but it didn't change a thing. She refuses to give him a divorce.

He spends more time with me than he does with his wife and family and I know he loves me. I have given up everything for this man and now I need to know how to get him to make up his mind about which one of us he wants. — NEED HIM

Dear Need Him: He HAS made up his mind. This man is going to stay with his family and keep you as a playmate for as long as you are willing. Lover Boy has nothing to lose. You've already lost everything, including your hold on reality.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old daughter has a boy friend who is in the service. He is stationed several hundred miles from here.

We had an understanding with the boy's mother that he would call our daughter collect and the mother would reimburse us. Last month our bill showed long distance calls totaling $27.00.

The boy's mother has not even asked us what the phone bills have been and my husband is getting pretty mad. Our daughter has asked us not to start a fuss as the woman will one day be her mother-in-law and she doesn't want any trouble.

Please tell us how to handle this matter. — IN THE RED

Dear Red: Tell your daughter she may not accept any future collect calls. This was a very poor arrangement to begin with and was bound to lead to trouble. If mom wants to finance the calls she should send her son the cash so he can put the coins in the phone and pay as he goes. Mail your phone bills to the boy's mother with a little note saying, "We would appreciate your check for these calls — which was our agreement."

Dear Ann Landers: How can I get a 44-year-old man to grow up?

My husband is so babyish he makes me sick. When the mailman comes up the walk he rushes out, grabs all the mail and opens everything. Our 17-year-old daughter receives letters from her boy friend and she gets furious when her dad reads them first. Our 18-year-old son can now beat his dad at tennis so he refuses to play with the boy. I need help. — D -39

Dear D: And how old was the baby when you married him? I'll bet he hasn't changed much in the last 20 years—or maybe even 30.

Ignore his infantilism and keep the family on an even keel. Your children need to see a mature adult in operation and you're the only candidate at hand. It's a cinch they won't see much maturity if they look at their father.

*** Confidential to Don't Want To put Him In The Poorhouse: Play it safe ask him what HE feels like eating. If he says, "I'm not very hungry," and orders light, curb your appetite until you get home, where the food is free.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope. © 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

Hot Summer Weather Affects Food Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Chickens have turned lazy in the hot summer weather and are laying fewer eggs. The result: wholesale prices of a dozen eggs rose as much as seven cents in the past week.

The heat in much of the country continued to hit the housewife's pocketbook.

Wholesale food prices climbed again.

The sun shined on snap beans in Maryland and Pennsylvania and peas in Wisconsin.

Cherry Yields in the Great Lakes area is estimated at half of last year's crop, and higher prices are forecast for peaches, plums and apples in all but Southwestern areas.

But that favorite American pastime, the great barbecue, goes on.

Broilers, beef cuts and turkey are featured in many supermarkets this week. Hamburger and steak lovers can find good buys in many areas.

Salads can still be made at reasonably low cost, with a heavy harvest of tomatoes in California, offsetting adverse weather in the rest of the country. Lettuce, radishes, green peppers, and onions are moderately plentiful.

That scorching weather that plagues the bean grower is a blessing to the corn farmer. An estimated 59 per cent increase in this year's harvest will mean lower corn prices.

While milk-lovers pay more

'My Fair Lady' To Be Staged In Marquette

Arriving on a tidal wave of superlative praises and broken records for popularity throughout most of the world, "My Fair Lady" will open at Kaufman Auditorium, Marquette for a five day run on Aug. 16.

Generating waves of excitement wherever "My Fair Lady" has opened this kind of announcement has invariably resulted in long lines of people clamoring at box offices to see this most popular musical in theatrical history.

Mary Lou Mayotte, ticket chairman for Marquette Community Theatre expects that it will be the same result in Marquette. The presentation will star John Ferzacca as the charming but arrogant phonetic professor of the fable and Vivian Lasich as the dirty rascally turns into a high-toned lady.

In order to save out-of-town patrons the extra trip into Marquette to purchase tickets, Mrs. Mayotte has arranged to receive mail order requests for tickets to "My Fair Lady" before they go on sale at the outlets in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee.

The production dates are Aug. 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, at Kaufman Auditorium in Marquette. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. All seats are reserved. Ticket requests should be sent to My Fair Lady, P.O. Box 735, Marquette, Mich., 49855.

Briefly Told

Traffic court notices have been issued by State Police to Derrell Endicott, Orlan, Okla., no operator's license; and to Ronald Lemery, Menominee, improper plates.

State Police of the Gladstone post report they received a complaint that the office of the Bark River Concrete Co. in Bark River was entered sometime the night of Tuesday, July 19. The intruders apparently sought to obtain gasoline and falling in this took nothing.

Thomas Bauer, 24, of 11th Ave., Menominee, suffered minor injuries to his feet when he leaped from his burning truck on U. S. 2-41 in Masonville Township at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, it is reported by State Police. Officers said Bauer told them he was driving one truck and towing another when there was an explosion and his truck caught fire. The investigation is continuing.

Gladstone City Police ticketed Michael Brkopac Jr., S. 8th St., Wells, for making an improper U-turn on a motorcycle.

Proposed Antlerless Deer Kill

BASED ON recommendations of the Conservation Department and eight citizens' committees, here is how this year's proposed antlerless deer quotas compare with those established in 1965. At a glance, you'll notice two things: 1) Michigan's harvest of antlerless deer will be well below last season's allowable take; 2) Department game biologists and the advisory committees closely agree on how many antlerless deer should be shot. State game men are calling for a 37-per cent reduction in northern Michigan; the advisory groups recommend a 43-per cent cut. In six of eight northern districts, the Department's and committees' kill quotas for antlerless deer are identical. One exception is in the Crystal Falls District where the committee has pared down the Department's proposed harvest by about 350 animals. The other involves the Mio District whose committee voted for a 50-per cent reduction in the Department's suggested antlerless deer quota.

Youth Worship

Much Hypocrisy In Present Fad

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Why does anyone want to be young? Youth is such a nuisance. It is fortunate that only young people have youth, as only they have the strength to bear up under its burdens.

There is a lot of hypocrisy in today's widespread worship of youth.

"You're in the best time of life," older people tell younger people.

And the young people believe it. They don't realize they're being kidded — by experts.

People don't appreciate how wonderful life can really be until they realize that middle age, far from being a penalty, has matchless benefits of its own. Why, it enables a man to get away with practically anything except murder.

What are some of the practical advantages of being middle-aged? Well, for example:

Your kids are either well-grown or already flown, and if you and your wife want to go out for the evening you don't have to fawn at the whims of a teen-age babysitter.

You can see your way clear to actually owning your own home. The mortgage on it is probably more than half paid.

You don't have to enlist in wars or play on the office softball team.

After giving you your 25-year pin the boss no longer calls you on the carpet so often, as he no longer has any particular desire to frighten you. He gets more of a thrill out of scaring the young whippersnappers.

You adopt a forgiving attitude toward your enemies, because it takes too much energy to go on hating them.

Nothing ages anyone more than the death of his dreams. As you have survived the interment of most of your own foolish dreams, this vanity is behind you.

It no longer galls you so much to make necessary compromises in your daily living. You adjust to the fact that it is a physical impossibility for you to reform the whole world. You decide to let mankind stew in its own juices — and feel better for this decision.

You meet the girl you might have married, and are glad you didn't. The one you did marry may not be a beauty any more, but she's got her points. For one thing, no other girl her age can dish up a tastier casserole. Or clean snow off the driveway quicker.

Best of all, time has taught you and everyone else to accept your limitations. They don't expect you to be anyone else, or to do more than you can. And that's a blessed relief.

These are the advantages of middle age. Who'd trade such known and lasting joys for the pallid, passing, panicky pleasures of the snobbish young?

Red Carpet Out For Servicemen

HONOLULU (AP) — American servicemen arriving in Hawaii for rest and relaxation leave will be issued a wallet-sized card which will get them entertainment, meals and drinks free or at cut rate, beginning next month.

The Hawaii Visitors Bureau, acting on a suggestion by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, designed the card, and reports it has had a good reaction from businessmen.

Carty Replaced By Donaldson In Detroit School

DETROIT (AP) — Assistant Principal George Donaldson will be named principal of Detroit's Northern High School replacing Arthur T. Carty, who was removed from the post following a series of student boycotts.

Schools' Supt. Samuel M. Brownell informed the Citywide High School Study Commission Wednesday of his decision to promote Donaldson.

Donaldson has been in charge of the school since Carty was assigned to special duties at the Schools Center Building in April.

Students had boycotted classes insisting Carty be removed

Senate Taking Ax To Foreign Economic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is taking out all kinds of frustrations from the war in Viet Nam to the price of bread in a supermarket — on the foreign aid bill.

"A general feeling of disenchantment" is the way Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield put it.

"You can cover it up all you want but the feeling is still there," Mansfield said today in an interview.

Officials of the Agency for International Development solemnly watched from the gallery as the Senate, seemingly in a mutinous mood, took the ax to the $2.4-billion economic assistance bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pointed first to the need for Uncle Sam to save money and then to the spectre of inflation.

Dirksen confided that a loaf of whole wheat bread he likes for sandwiches cost 25 cents last week but when he bought it this week it was 30 cents.

"The people are beginning to get just a little excited, and just a little concerned," he said.

The Senate, he said, couldn't short-change the soldiers in Viet Nam, so he proposed cutting $250 million from the $620-million tagged for development loans.

The Senate voted 59 to 34 to make the cut. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee — the bill's manager — was among the yeas.

Teeners From Overseas Rush; LBJ Is Cagey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running, screaming students from overseas pursued President Johnson around his back yard. With a cagey demeanor he outwitted them, then returned for more.

Shrubs were flattened. Cedar limbs were broken. Flowers were smashed.

Johnson strolled to the south lawn of the White House Wednesday to greet 3,000 American Field Service students from 59 countries. The teenagers return home this weekend after a year in the United States.

The students were ready. Cameras were up, pencils out. The President, Lady Bird and daughter Lynda walked to a makeshift bandstand amid clapping, cheers and wolf whistles.

He spoke briefly, urging the young people to seek peace, fight poverty, ignorance and disease and work toward world understanding.

"I have been assured that you are future leaders of your countries — future prime ministers and lawmakers and First Ladies," he said. He left the platform amid more cheers.

Ropes holding back the students sagged and Secret Service men closed in around the President as the future prime ministers surged forward.

"Here! Here!" they shouted, reaching for his hands, shoving cameras toward his face. White House police tried to push the crowd back and student chaplains appealed for order. It was too late.

Cavanagh Hits Soapy's Record

JACKSON (AP) — Jerome Cavanagh is attacking G. Mennen Williams' special area — African affairs.

The Detroit mayor charged Wednesday that his opponent for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination contributed to racial intolerance in Southwest Africa. Cavanagh said U.S. policies in Africa are based on "gunboat mentality."

South Africa has administered the territory of Southwest Africa since after World War I. Ethiopia and Liberia wanted to take court action to remove the trusteeship. In 1962, the World Court said Ethiopia and Liberia could take court action but they reversed that decision this week.

Cavanagh said the court would not have reversed its decision if the U.S. had pledged to support and help enforce court action against South Africa.

"This is just one more case," he said, "where our talk of racial justice in Mississippi and Alabama is betrayed by our foreign policy."

Bus Payments

LANSING (AP) — The State Department of Education plans a hearing Aug. 9 in Lansing on proposed increases in state reimbursement to local school districts for school bus operations.

Cavanagh said the court would not have reversed its decision if the U.S. had pledged to support and help enforce court action against South Africa.

Recreation Centers Urged

U.P. Play Thinks Big

The new committee of advisors to the Upper Michigan Tourist Association meeting for the first time at the Northwoods at Marquette Wednesday under Chairman James Gooch heard a proposal from Jack English, new president of UMTA, that it support a broad program of recreational center development in the U. P.

A similar concept of U. P. recreation business need emerged from the recent study of U. P. tourism by specialists of Michigan State University's community and resort development agencies.

English is president of Indianhead Mountain, Inc., at Wakefield, one of the Midwest's famed new ski resorts. He said that ski resorts all come to the conviction that their success is finally determined by their summer business, not their winter business.

The latter tends to take care of itself, but a big resort cannot operate efficiently if closed most of the year.

English suggested that about six major tourist attractions scattered about the U. P. would create goals and targets for tourists that should stimulate much travel to the area.

Look And Lam

The present danger is that the U. P. recreational visitor may be bored, said English. "After 50 miles of looking at trees he's had it," said English, "we lack holding power. Service is poor."

Dr. Clare Gunn, recreational specialist of MSU, said it is difficult to define a tourist; that he may be any visitor interested in an area. "People can go long distances without spending much money," said English. "In the jet age they're strongly oriented toward focal points and we haven't caught up with that in the U. P. yet."

Both host Dwight Eisenhower and his guest, Michigan Gov. George Romney, told newsmen after a 90-minute conference that they talked about Republican hopes for improving the party's position in 1968, rather than 1968.

Romney's name has been near the top of the speculative list for the GOP presidential nomination for a long time. But when a newsmen asked Eisenhower if he had endorsed Romney for president, both men laughed heartily and the former President said they hadn't "gotten that far."

Both men reacted strongly against enemy talk of trying captured American soldiers in Viet Nam as war criminals.

"If I were there," said Eisenhower, "there would be strong reaction."

Romney, after two years of two-years each, is running now for the first four-year gubernatorial term in Michigan's history. The term was made four years under a change in the state constitution.

Alarm System

The Michigan Public Service Commission said the alarm reporting set would use telephone facilities.

K-12 Rejected

HILLSDALE (AP) — Proposed consolidation of Hillsdale County's eight school districts into a single K-12 unit was overwhelmingly rejected Wednesday. Voters cast 5,606 ballots, against the proposal and 416 for it.

Dr. Gunn said that it is surprising but there is no association of motels, hotels and restaurants in Michigan with a Lansing office. Studies have shown that there are no strong non-governmental ties between the U. P. and Lower Michigan; that the U. P. is not a solid, integrated, working community; that the tourist business of the area is local and non-cooperative.

More Millions

Dr. Gunn said that the new UMTA leadership has to broaden the base of service, support and structure of the organization, but that it is equipped to do this as never before, and that it should "take a gutsy look at what is working in the U. P."

"I have been in the U. P. eight years," said English "and have not seen much (recreational) capital coming in. We need all the resources we can get, private and governmental."

"Our tourist business brought 48 million people to the U. P. in 1964 and they spent $138 million. That's $30 a day per man. Florida gets a lot more than that. If we can make them stay and spend more we can talk about millions in more business."

Lansing Strike End Is Voted

LANSING (AP) — Striking Lansing city workers voted Wednesday night to accept a contract including a 3-cent-an-hour wage boost and end their three-day walkout.

About 250 city workers struck Monday, despite a threat of dismissal under the state's no-strike law for public employees.

Jerry Wurf, international president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said the settlement provided that none of the strikers would be dismissed.

The strikers were to return to day to their jobs with the public service, parks, traffic and civic center departments.

"The basic problem — the refusal of the city to negotiate on key issues — has been eliminated," Wurf said. "A fair and honorable contract has been worked out."

He said the contract provides an across-the-board pay raise of three cents an hour for about 400 workers currently averaging around $2.50 an hour. He said the raise was retroactive to July 1, when the city voluntarily gave city employees a 4 per cent raise.

The one-year contract also provided grievance procedures and improved sick-leave, Wurf said.

Young Man Who Supplied Beer Is Fined $100

Arnold Micheau, 21, of Gladstone Rte. 1, today pleaded guilty in Escanaba Municipal Court to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, costs of $5, or to serve 30 days in jail. The fine must be paid by Friday night.

Escanaba police reported that Micheau's arrest followed an investigation into the background of a malicious destruction case, in which glass was broken in about 40 automobiles and two stores in Escanaba.

Micheau admitted that he had purchased beer for the five youths, three of whom are juveniles and two are 18 years old. The damage to cars and store windows has been unofficially estimated at $20,000.

Menominee Sets Watercraft Rite

MENOMINEE — Bishop Thomas L. Noa of the Marquette Catholic Diocese will preside over the annual Blessing of the Watercraft ceremony at Great Lakes Memorial Marina here Sunday, July 31.

The ceremonies will be held in Menominee for the second straight year after it was shifted last summer from Fayette.

Some 12,000 residents and boat owners from the Upper Peninsula and the twin cities of Marinette and Menominee participated in the program last year.

The day's program will open at noon with a luncheon for Bishop Noa, clergy and mayors of Marinette and Menominee. A memorial procession will proceed to the marina at 1 p. m.

The annual sailing race for the Bishop Noa trophy will be held in Green Bay off the Marina at the conclusion of the blessing rite.

The traditional ceremony, first known as the Blessing of the Fleet, and later changed to the Blessing of the Watercraft

Senators Call For Restraint

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Leverett Saltonstall called today for restraint in any American retaliation if North Viet Nam puts captured U.S. pilots on trial as war criminals.

President Johnson offered at his news conference Wednesday a U.S. meeting with Hanoi officials on the treatment of war prisoners — or to discuss any other subject.

The President denounced threats to put the prisoners on trial as "deplorable." But he carefully avoided saying whether retaliatory measures might be taken.

Amid widespread predictions in Congress that prisoner trials would generate public demands for all-out conventional war against North Viet Nam, Fulbright said this would be a "disastrous course" for the United States to take.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "If we start retaliatory action I'm afraid there would be no end to it."

"The history of warfare indicates that retaliatory action leads to barbaric conflict," he said. "I would hope that, at least, there will be no attacks on civilians in any action we might take."

Elm Is Thriving On Turpentine

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Basil Kinney says he has an American Elm tree which is thriving by guzzling turpentine.

Kinney said he noticed last fall that the tree was showing signs of ill health—it was losing some of its leaves and several branches near the top were completely bare.

He said he had read of several trees being nursed back to health on a turpentine diet, so he decided to give the tree an occasional nip.

He drilled a hole in the trunk and ran a rubber hose from the hole to a bottle filled with turpentine.

This spring he resumed the process and so far the tree has consumed five pints of turpentine.

Kinney said the therapeutic cocktail has done wonders for the tree and the bare spots are gone. And, he said, it's showing an almost-human symptom—it has become a bit broader in the middle.

Catching up on loose ends . . . Ironwood clinched the Western Upper Peninsula baseball title in perfect style, defeating Hurley 8-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Don Koivisto. The victory gave the Red Devils an 8-1 record and squared an earlier loss to Hurley. On the other side of the peninsula, Sault Ste. Marie trimmed Pickford 9-8 to win the Eastern U.P. Conference title.

Bill Peterson of Ontonagon, defending Upper Peninsula golf champion, snapped a five-year string of Tialant victories by beating young Larry for the Gogebic Country Club shortstop title. Peterson carded a two-over-par 36 to Tialant's 38. Larry had won the title the past two years, following a three-year run by brother Dennis, who is now playing the professional tour.

Pirates Play Footsy, Rally Defeats Dodgers

The Pittsburgh Pirates are like a salesman. Let them get a foot in the door, and you'll wind up buying their product.

The Pirates got good use out of a foot Wednesday night and promptly put their product on display for all to see. The Los Angeles Dodgers didn't care for any, but the Pirates were persuasive and wound up with an 8-5 victory.

The triumph, coupled with San Francisco's 3-2, 10-inning loss to New York, boosted the first-place Pirates one game ahead of the Giants in the National League pennant race.

Two Country Club Women Gain U.P. Golf Semifinals

ISHPEMING — Escanaba's two survivors in the Upper Peninsula Women's Amateur golf tournament faced rugged assignments this morning as they teed off in the semifinal round.

Rosemary LeMire faced defending champion Linda Uren of Iron Mountain and Marie Wicklander faced tournament medalist Florence Strong of Ontonagon.

Mrs. LeMire and Mrs. Wicklander each advanced to the semifinals with impressive victories Wednesday over the dry Wawanowin Golf Club course.

Mrs. LeMire posted a 3 and 2 triumph over Edna Repola of Ishpeming and Mrs. Wicklander advanced with a 5 and 4 conquest of Harriet Rosenbaum, also of Ishpeming.

The tournament, which opened match play Tuesday, concludes with the 18-hole championship match this afternoon.

In the other two quarterfinal matches Wednesday, Mrs. Uren eliminated Helen Olson of Ishpeming 3 and 2 and Mrs. Strong defeated Helen Swanson 7 and 5.

Wawanowin Golf Club, in its final year, had started the day with four women playing in the quarterfinals and all of them were beaten.

Play over the women's par 38-38 — 78 layout has been hampered by dry fairways and hard greens due to the lack of rain in the area.

In the first flight, Sally Fontaine of the Country Club and Elaine Fairchild of the Highland advanced with victories along with Carol Carlson of Ishpeming and Jean Thomson of Marquette. They were to meet this morning.

Brodie, McCord Leave Camps

By The Associated Press

It is beginning to appear that some pro football stars will hold out for more money this season.

John Brodie, star quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers and a 10-year veteran of the National Football League, didn't report as scheduled Wednesday.

Another NFL veteran, end Darrell McCord, left the Detroit Lions' training camp.

Both want more dough to play this season. Brodie reportedly is asking more than $50,000 and is referring all queries to his attorney, John Elliott Cook of San Francisco.

"I am at the complete mercy of my attorney," Brodie said at the home of his father-in-law in Hawaii. "Anything I say or do has to be directed by him."

McCord joined guards John Gordy and Dick Karras and tackles J.D. Smith and Roger Brown on the Detroit absent list.

Russ Thomas, director of player personnel for the Lions, pointed out that "big money was kicked around" before the recent merger of the NFL and the American Football League, effective in 1970.

"The bonus money a few rookies got stirred things up more and the veterans are saying, 'we're going to get some of it.'"

Brown said he wants an adjustment to the three-year contract he signed last December with Detroit or "I won't play at all."

There was no report of salary troubles from the other clubs in the NFL and AFL as they started training for the pre-season pro exhibitions that will be in full swing within a few weeks.

Cincinnati also won the seventh-ninth nightcap that was halted by darkness. Jim O'Toole pitched a five-hitter and received support from Don Pavlich's homer and Jim Coker's two-run double.

Cookie Rojas drove in four runs for Philadelphia with two singles and a double while Tony Gonzalez knocked in three with a single and a homer. Dick Groat added three hits to the Phillies' 20-hit attack, including a seventh-inning run-scoring single that snapped an 8-8 deadlock.

Five batters and two pitchers later, the Pirates had six more runs and one of their most enjoyable sales of the season.

Gene Michael and Roberto Clemente singled for one run, and Jim Brewer replaced Drysdale. After a wild pitch and a walk to Manny Mota that loaded the bases, Brewer left and Phil Regan came on.

Jose Pagan got in enough of a sales talk to tie the game with a two-run single, and Donn Clendenon closed the sale with a three-run homer into the left-center-field bleachers.

In other National League games, St. Louis defeated Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati swept Chicago 5-4 and 5-1 and Philadelphia outslugged Houston 13-9.

Mets Win Fifth

The Mets gained their fifth straight victory when Ron Swoboda led off the 10th inning with a homer against Bill Henry. The Mets had taken a 2-1 lead in the eighth on Roy McMillan's homer, but the Giants tied it in the ninth on a walk to Willie Mays, Jack Fisher's wild pitch and a single by Jim Hart.

Ray Washburn scattered eight hits and drove in two runs with a fourth-inning single for St. Louis. The Cardinals broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth on Mike Shannon's run-scoring single, his third hit off Atlanta's Ken Johnson.

Ernie Banks' 2,000th hit, a two-run double in the eighth inning, helped Chicago to a 4-1 lead in the opener, but the Reds rallied for four runs in the ninth, the last two on Tommy Harper's triple.

Escanaba Gridders To Exercise Early

The Escanaba Eskimo football team will get a one-week jump on the official opening of fall practice in a pre-season conditioning camp beginning Aug. 8.

Coach Jerry Cveugros said that although state rules prohibit U.P. high schools from beginning official practice prior to Aug. 15, there is no specific rule prohibiting a team from meeting, exercising and running together. A training program of this type has been setup by the Eskimos' staff and has been approved by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, Cveugros said.

Plans call for the Eskimo varsity squad to meet daily at 6 p.m. at the athletic field for conditioning drills. No footballs or equipment can be used.

The Eskimos open the season with road games at Antigo, Wis., and Menominee. After an open date, they will meet Kingsford, Stephenson, Alpena, Marquette, Iron Mountain and Holy Name.

Tigers, Pitchers Sick, Sick; Lose 5th In Row

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Tigers have a sick manager, a sick acting manager, and a sick shortstop. Right now their pitching staff isn't exactly the picture of health either.

Baltimore continued to punish the Tiger staff Wednesday, pounding Denny McLain and two successors for 16 hits in a 10-7 triumph that extended the Orioles' American League lead to 10½ games.

Detroit Manager Chuck Dressen is recuperating from his second heart attack in two years and now Acting Manager Bob Swift and All-Star shortstop Dick McAuliffe have been hospitalized with bacterial food poisoning.

McLain Ripped

McLain, who pitched three perfect innings in the All-Star Game, was ripped for home runs by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell as the Orioles wiped out an early deficit.

In 5 1-3 innings pitched since the All-Star break, McLain has been tagged with two losses in which he gave up 16 hits and 14 runs, all of them earned.

The second-place Tigers, meanwhile, have lost 14 of their last 20 games including five in a row. During the five-game slue, Detroit pitchers have given up 53 runs, an average of more than 10 per game.

Frank Skiff, handling the Tigers in the absence of both Dressen and Swift, saw Detroit jump into a 3-0 lead and then rally for a 7-5 lead but it wasn't enough against the fired-up Orioles.

Powell Homers

Powell and Robinson scored three Jim Northrup had a homer and double for Detroit, driving in two runs and scoring three.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Minnesota downed Washington 3-1, Chicago beat Cleveland 6-3, New York blanked Kansas City 4-0 and California and Boston split a doubleheader, the Red Sox winning the first game 6-1 and the Angels taking the nightcap, 1-0 in 10 innings.

Moe Drabowsky pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Orioles, striking out eight of the 12 batters he faced.

The loss left the second-place Tigers closer to eighth place Kansas City than they are to front-running Baltimore.

The Athletics slipped into eighth behind New York when Mel Stottlemyre blanked them on six hits. Horace Clarke and Tom Tresh homered for the Yankees who won their fifth straight.

Don Buford and Jerry Adair drove in two runs apiece as the White Sox downed the Indians. Joe Horlen pitched five hitless innings but needed help from Hoyt Wilhelm to nail down the victory.

Dave Boswell's six-hitter gave Minnesota its 10th victory in 12 games this season against Washington. Boswell, 25, struck out eight and allowed only two hits after the third inning.

Darrell Brandon, a rookie right-hander, pitched a two-hitter and Don Demeter drove in two runs with a double and two singles as Boston beat California in the opener of their two-night doubleheader.

Bob Rodgers' pinch single in the 10th inning decided the second game as three California pitchers—Dean Chance, Minnie Rojas and Jack Sanford—limited the Red Sox to two hits.

Chance allowed only a second-inning single by Tony Conigliaro but walked eight before Rojas came on in the ninth. Sanford pitched the 10th inning and gave up the other Boston hit.

Emory Pellant Aces 7th Hole

Watching a hole-in-one scored for the first time must have done something for Emory Pellant.

Taking the cue from Dave Erickson, who Pellant watched score a hole-in-one at the Country Club's seventh hole last week, Emory scored the first hole-in-one of his life Wednesday afternoon. He sank an eight iron shot from the back tee of the seventh hole. The ace helped him to a fine round of 38, two over par.

Playing with Pellant were Bob Turner, Toby Oumette and Jim Savastano.

Flying Wheels Mar Races

By DAVE ANDREWS

Rules for the demolition derby provide that the last car running is declared the winner.

Wednesday night, drivers in the U. P. Stock Cars Association races at the State Fairgrounds track nearly carried the specification into the stock and modified races as lost wheels, spinouts and flips paired the field to a minimum.

Of 12 cars which started the stock feature, only five finished. In the modified feature, two cars had to be hurriedly summoned from the pits to make a four-car race after the Iverson brothers, Bob and Ken, were forced out of the race with trouble on the second lap.

"I've never seen so many wheels come off cars in one night before," said one racing observer.

Drivers and cars were hampered by holes on the first turn of the clay track, but fortunately there were no injuries.

the checkered flag in the semi-feature race. He had battled with Herb Iverson for the lead, crossing the finish just two car lengths behind.

Jerry Richer, who waged a losing duel with Bobby Iverson in the first modified heat, won the modified feature race easily after both Iversons, Bob and Ken, spun out on the second lap and could not continue. Bob Iverson's car broke a torsion bar and Ken's car broke an axle. Allen Yelle of Marquette finally finished second.

Used Car Boom Aids Industry

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry was cheered today by word that business is booming again in the used car market. Preliminary sales reports showed that franchised dealers sold 865,700 units in June, reversing a downward trend of the previous two months. One of the strongest factors in the used car market was that the stockpile of used vehicles stood at about 832,000 units on July 1. This was the lowest figure since October. Auto companies and dealers are keeping an extra close watch on used car sales in the final weeks of 1966 model production. They know full well that the industry faces a kung-sized job in bringing its inventory of about 1.7 million new 1966 models down to a target of some 500,000 vehicles by the time the new 1967 models reach dealer showrooms in the fall. The great percentage of new car sales involves a trade-in, many of them of late model variety, and that pinpointed the need for the used car segment of the market to remain strong.

Stockpile Down
The July 1 stockpile of used cars compared with the 873,971 vehicles on hand at this same time a year ago. Jack Charlesworth, American Motors used car manager, said prices remained unusually strong on the dealer level in virtually every phase of the used car market. General Motors said a "scarcity of good used cars of some types is virtually at the critical stage." He cited California as an area in which used car establishments were having a hard time keeping up with customer demand.

Demand Strong
AMC's Charlesworth and Charles A. Joans, national used car manager for Chrysler leasing, said that cars which have been released from the lease pool and siphoned into the used car market have commanded good prices. Charlesworth said that some of the lease cars have brought prices $200 or $250 above the regular used car book value. As usual in the weeks preceding introduction of new models, some weakness developed in the used car price range in the past two weeks but the trend was not general.

Automotive News, which keeps track of price trends in nearly a score of used car auction houses around the country, said that prices paid for autos at auctions dropped an average of $57 last week. Losses ranged from $1 on 1960 models to $113 on 1964 models, the paper said. Demand remained strong, however.

New State Group To Study Crime

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A thorough look at Michigan's crime problem will be the job of the new State Commission on Crime, Delinquency and Criminal Administration, according to the committee chairman.

John B. Martin of Grand Rapids, named by Gov. George Romney last week to head the commission, said the group will combine the work of two present crime study groups as well as implement new methods of study. Martin said the new commission will differ from past groups in that it will include nonprofessionals in the law enforcement field as members and will study the broader range of the problem rather than primarily law enforcement. The commission will hold its first meeting in Lansing Aug. 4.

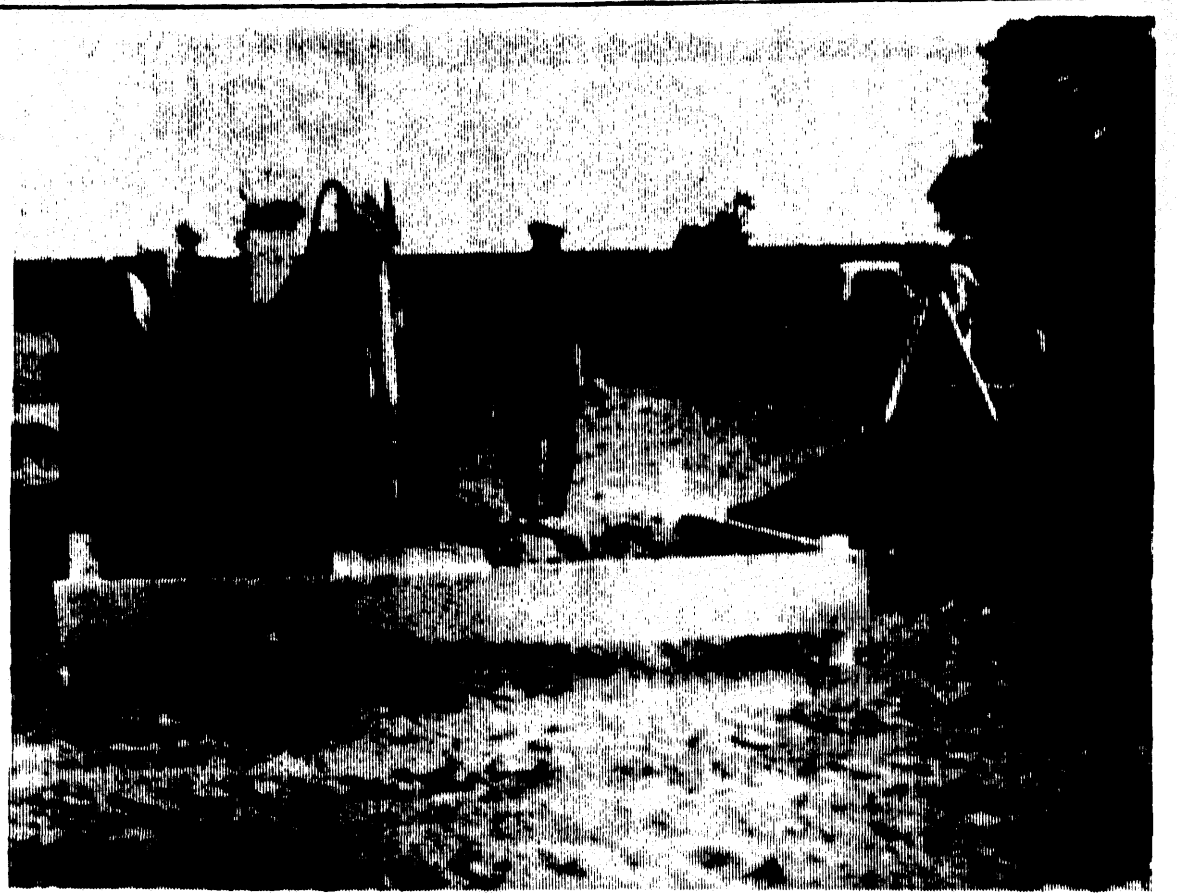

Vienna To Fine Horn Virtuosos

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Public safety officials have drawn up four classifications for motorists who use their horns excessively. The boxers — aggressive types who think all traffic space should be reserved for themselves. The fearful — use horns in every situation. The lazy — want to free themselves from all responsibilities once they have honked at the other fellow. School teachers — lean on the horn to advise other motorists of alleged traffic violations. The city is planning fines for those who use horns when there is no immediate danger.

Gets Brent Award

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dr. Roberto de Oliveira Campos, Brazilian economist and diplomat, will receive the Theodore Brent Inter-American Award in October from International House. The award is given annually to a Latin American who has made outstanding contributions to the social, economic or political relationships between Latin America and the United States.

Joyce Fiegel Bride Of Donald Shackle

Joyce Ann Fiegel, St. Paul, Minn., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fiegel, 719 Manistique Ave., became the bride of Donald Earl Shackle, son of Mrs. Joyce Shackle, Minneapolis, and Joseph Shackle, New Brighton, Minn.

The double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in First Methodist church had Rev. William Kelsey officiating. Music was played by Helen McGlothlin. Charles Johnston of Milwaukee was soloist.

Mrs. Darrell Logas of St. Paul was matron of honor and Doris Moham, St. Paul and Mrs. Theodore Nemetz, St. Paul were bridesmaids. Darrell Logas was best man and groomsmen were Richard Fiegel of Manistique, brother of the bride, and Bruce Bloom, Chicago, cousin of the bride.

Terri Fiegel, niece of the bride was junior bridesmaid and her nephew, Robert Fiegel was junior groomsman.

The bride wore a floor-length organza and chantilly lace dress with redingote front and 4-tier lace-edged train. She wore a double-tiered crystal crown with pearls which held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty Roses. Pearl earrings completed her ensemble.

The bridal attendants wore azure blue floor-length georgette gowns with lace jackets and carried cascades of assorted blue flowers.

Mrs. Fiegel wore a pink linen A-line dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations and roses. Mrs. Shackle wore a melon organza A-line dress with matching accessories.

School Gas Bids Are Received

Bids on gas for the Central School heating plant were opened at a Board of Education meeting Tuesday night and referred to the school architect.

Bids were received from Bowman Gas and Oil, Gulliver, Schubring Bottle Gas, Manistique and Skelly Gas, Gladstone. The three also submitted bids on installation costs for tank storage. Gas costs ranged from 12.8 to 16 cents per gallon.

Mrs. Pete Berger and Mae Barker were named school election inspectors.

THE ENGAGEMENT of their daughter, Barbara to William T. Reno is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swaer of Garden, parents of the bride-to-be. Miss Swaer is a 1964 graduate of Garden High School and a 1966 graduate of East of New Community College, with an associate degree. Mr. Reno, a 1962 graduate of Manistique High School is employed by the Manistique Public Safety Department. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merion Reno, 133 S. 4th St. An October 29 wedding is planned. Farm-City Visit Set

Plans for a visit Aug. 22 by Rotary, Lions and the Jaycees to foster farm-city cooperation were outlined to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday night.

The visit through the Cooperative Extension Service will be to the John Haindl farm at Cooks. Members of the arrangements committee are Dean Rhoads, Roger Howell and Jon Haindl.

Work on a farmers market stand in Manistique is proceeding.

Rhoads presented his annual report to the board and discussed program, with plans for increase in sheep, cattle and berry production expected.

Need for a chairman to succeed Jack Earle who has left the county planning commission due to change of work was cited by Rhoads. The next step in county zoning is appointment of commissioners, he said.

The board passed a resolution to request an economic development grant for a feasibility study for a retirement village.

Two veteran burial allowances were approved, and various reports were received, including one on start of construction of the new medical care facility.

Thor Reque, Harold Carlson and Lindsay Frenette were named to a committee to outline, with members of the school board, reasons for asking voters for approval of an 18-mill limitation instead of 15-mill tax limit in the August primary.

A complaint regarding flights over private property near the airport was referred to Harold Carlson. One by parents of a minor girl concerning alleged inability to get a case in court was referred to Lindsay Frenette.

Foresters In The Tree Tops

Seek Rust-Resistant White Pines

By JEAN WORTH

Foresters have tired of waiting for Nature to correct her mistakes and they're shortening her poky process of tree survival by evolutionary improvement.

Foresters of the Hiawatha National Forest in a project headed by Spar Sager are engaged in development of rust-resistant white pines.

The white pine was the great tree of Northern Michigan and the Lake States in the forests that the first white men found here. It was the chief species of the first lumbering boom in the state.

Restocking of northern forests with white pines has been impeded by several problems. One of the big ones is the fungus, white pine blister rust. To defeat it Sager and his fellow foresters are seeking out superior trees in the national forest which show rust-resistant character and using them in their breeding program.

Grafts Used

Because it takes so long to be permanent with generations of white pines, the project is speeding up determinations by using pines bearing grafting material with the rust-resistant trees' reproductive elements.

The project is part of a larger Forest Service program to develop superior trees in all important timber species in order to get faster growth, more volume of wood, improved tree form and resistance to insects and diseases.

Personnel of the Hiawatha Forest participating in this program have selected candidate white pine trees that indicate probable resistance to infection by blister rust. Several conditions are necessary to establish a white pine as a candidate.

It must be found in a zone of high rust hazard or in a micro-climate of severe rust behavior. The tree must be at least 40 years old and open crown enough to retain all of its branches for complete exposure. It should be of seed-bearing age.

Thirteen Candidates

After meeting all of these requirements it must also show no evidence of a present or past blister rust canker.

Thirteen such trees have been located to date on the Hiawatha Forest. They are painted with a permanent number for reference in the breeding project.

Collection of scions was made last February and the graftings are being grown in the Forest Service greenhouse at Watersmeet. The rootstock was potted from three-year-old transplants grown at Manistique. These potted trees were tagged with records of their grafts to identify the parent tree. They will be grown until a test has been made of the parent tree's ability to pass on the resistant characteristic to its progeny. The test will determine whether the grafts from a tree will be moved to a seed orchard or thrown out as a negative result of the test.

Develop Seedlings

In testing the rust resistance of the selected trees it will be necessary to develop seedlings from each candidate tree that are progeny of that tree and a previously tested male parent. Wild pollination from nearby non-resistant trees must be prevented.

This involves timely isolation of the female flowers and controlled pollination during the receptive stage. As soon as female flower buds could be identified, isolations were made. Twelve flower clusters were selected in the very top of each candidate tree. Each flower-bearing branchlet was enclosed by a vapor passing plastic bag secured about the branch on nonabsorbent cotton padding. Each plastic bag was then shaded by a waterproof paper bag slipped over it and tied.

After isolation of the flowers, several trips to the tops of the trees by the foresters were necessary to check the stage of the flowers for pollinating. Not all trees were the same in their timing of flowering development.

Two Pollen Sources

Each tree received pollen from two separate sources. Five bags on each tree were pollinated with a syringe containing one pollen source. Syringe punctures were taped to assure no wind pollen was present and each twig was tagged with pollen records.

Five more bags were similarly treated with the other pollen source. Two bags were not pollinated and tagged as "control." No seeds should develop in these unpollinated flower cones.

After pollination and after the receptive flower stage passed, the bags will be removed and the conelets checked and

THIS IS THE KIND of white pine which the first white men found in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. The tallest trees in this stand are over 100 feet high. It is a virgin stand of Pinus Strobus. The species attained heights of 160 feet and produced as much as 9,000 board feet per tree and 70,000 board feet per acre in primeval forests. Some of the pines logged in pioneer operations were more than 200 years old. (Forest Service Photo) counted. They will be protected and after this evaluation of the against insects and against offspring of the candidate trees squirrels which would eat the a seed orchard will be established. The cones will be picked, lished to provide the seeds for and tagged in the autumn of hoped-for generations of rust 1967 and seeded to produce resistant white pines.

Exposed To Fungus This method, think foresters, is more promising than the control of blister rust by the removal of current bushes and other ribs which are intermediate hosts to the fungus in its spread from diseased to healthy trees.

It will take a decade before any rust resistant white pine seeds are produced and much longer before seed orchards are producing in ample quantity for large scale reforestation. In the meantime the old methods of control of blister rust in pine stands will be practiced. So the foresters are down from the tall pine treetops now with their fingers crossed and hoping for the best in their effort to develop blister rust-resistant white pine trees by utilizing the rare pines which nature has given a valuable immunity to this forest blighting fungus.

Summer School Program Rated Most Successful

BARK RIVER — The Bark River-Harris Summer School Program, funded by the National Elementary and Secondary Education Act is drawing to a close this week, Supt. Richard Hendra reported today.

The sessions began on June 13, included classes for pre-schoolers; developmental reading and math for grades 1-8; enrichment math, typing, and art for high school students; a limited speech correction project; and swimming in cooperation with the Escanaba Recreation Department.

Over 160 children are participating in one phase of the program or the other. In evaluating the program, staff members were enthusiastic over parental and student interest and cooperation.

and the final results when the participants return to school are hoped to verify the worthiness of the summer program.

The program requires five buses which traveled over 350 miles per day to pick up and return the children; a lunch program to provide well-balanced meals; and a staff of 12 teachers and six teacher aids. Plans for improvements and an even more ambitious program for next summer are being made.
